Happy Birthday

Teacher's notes

Age: Teenagers/Adults
Level: Intermediate (B1)
Time: 30 minutes

Activity: In this lesson, students will:

1. learn the lyrics to Happy Birthday
2. research their birthday year
3. do a birthday quiz
4. practise speaking about birthdays

Language focus: vocabulary related to birthdays; spoken fluency

Materials: one copy of the worksheet per student

Procedure

1. Ask students what songs they sing to celebrate someone's birthday in their country. If they are feeling brave they can sing the song and teach the other students. Next, draw students' attention to the lyrics in Exercise 1 and ask them if they can know the tune. Teach the lyrics to the song if students don't already know and sing it if any of your students have a birthday that day.
2. Ask students if they can remember the top songs of a year ago, the films that were showing and what was happening in the news. Ask the same about two years ago, three years ago and so on. Find out if students know anything about the year in which they were born. If the school has internet access, ask students to research the year in which they were born and write a summary.

FLIPPED TIP: The day before you teach this class, set your students homework to research events that happened in the year they were born. They can then present this in class rather than researching it during class.

3. When they have completed their summary, ask students to tell each other about their birth years in small groups, or display the information on the classroom walls so they can read each other's work.

4. Draw students' attention to the photos on the worksheet. Discuss how people usually celebrate birthdays in their country and other countries, e.g. in English-speaking countries it's the custom to have the same number of candles on the cake as the person's age. The person whose birthday it is tries to blow out the candles in one breath, while making a wish.
5. Divide the class into groups of three or four. Ask students to do Exercise 2 in their groups. While they are doing this, draw the same number of cakes on the board as there are groups in the class, each with 12 candles.
6. Check the answers to the quiz. For each correct answer, the group blows out a candle on their cake. The group that blows out all their candles first is the winner.

Key:

1. a; 2. c; 3. a; 4. a; 5. c; 6. b; 7. a; 8. a; 9. a; 10. c (six presidents were born in October); 11. c (in 1989 he flew 800 guests to Morocco for a non-stop three-day party); 12. b
7. Draw students' attention to the list of questions in Exercise 3. Tell them that they don't have to ask and answer all of the questions but that they should choose a few and discuss them with a partner. When they have finished, conduct a whole class feedback session and address any new questions that your students have.

FLIPPED TIP: Ask your students if they know any words that collocate (go together) with the word birthday. Some examples of this are birthday cake, birthday present, birthday party, birthday boy and birthday girl. Tell students it is good to get into the habit of recording high frequency collocations as this will help to improve their vocabulary.
