PREPARATION

Make one copy of the worksheet for each student in the class.

TIME

20 minutes

PROCEDURE

1. Write a time of day on the board.

For example:

At 7:15 in the morning

Ask the students to guess what you do every day at this time.

For example:

Student 1: You get up.

Teacher: No, I don't.

Student 2: You take a shower.

Teacher: No, I don't.

Student 3: You have breakfast.

Teacher: Yes, that's right.

Now complete the example sentence on the board:

At 7:15 in the morning I have breakfast.

Explain that this is something you do every day; it's a routine activity. If necessary, give another example using a different preposition of time.

For example:

Between 6:00 and 7:00 in the evening I go to the gym.

2. Now ask the students to write similar sentences about their own daily routine in the section of their worksheet marked YOU, and about the daily routine of a member of their family in the section marked A MEMBER OF YOUR FAMILY. Ask them to write who the member of their family is in the space provided.

Make sure they write the time under the heading When? and the activity under the heading What? They must not let the other students in the class see what they are writing. Encourage them to use a variety of prepositions of time.

3. When they have finished, ask them to fold their worksheet as indicated.
4. Now ask the students to work in pairs.
5. Tell them to hold their worksheets up so that the column marked When? is facing their partner and the column marked What? is hidden from their partner.
6. Now ask them to take turns reading their partner's time of day and guess what they do at this time. Repeat the activity, trying to guess what a member of their family does.
7. When they have finished, ask them to repeat the activity with a different partner.

OPTION

Give a new copy of the worksheet to each student in the class and ask them to fill it in with details about their weekend routine.
