Amy: My name's Amy and I'm studying acting. I really like studying acting because I have the freedom to study theatre that I like and film, and experiment with television and so I get to do lots of exciting new things that I've always wanted to do.

Simon: My name's Simon. I'm a science teacher at a secondary school in London. What I like about my job is the variety; every day is different and every year we get new children to work with.

Cameron: My name's Cameron and I'm studying music at university. The most enjoyable aspect of my course is performing because I enjoy playing in front of people and it can be very exciting.

Becky: I am a surgeon. The most interesting part of my job is making decisions and working as part of a team. The frustrating part of my job is not always being able to treat patients as quickly as we would like. In my free time I like working out in the gym.

Katie: My name's Katie and I'm studying theatre studies at university. The best thing about my course is having the opportunity to direct and act in the plays that I study. In my free time I enjoy singing and also taking photographs.

Kathryn: I'm a bookseller and I own my own bookshop. The most interesting part of my job is talking to people and recommending books for them. The worst thing about my job is doing the paperwork and doing the accounts.

Matthew: My name's Matthew and I study journalism at university. What I most like about my course is that it's very practical and hands on which is a great way to learn, and also all the people are really friendly.
