

Pre-Intermediate – Finding Ideas & Information

A. In a week, it's your mom's birthday. Your dad doesn't know what to do for the celebration. He's planning to take your her out for a burger and milkshakes, 'just like the old days'. Help your dad plan something different so that your mom's birthday is really special. His budget is 100 euros. Go online or use other resources to find ideas for a present and/or a small celebration and information on each of your options.

B. In a month, your friend Stefan's cousin is opening a cool new coffee shop. He wants to attract lots of local teenagers to come. Stefan says that his cousin makes great coffee and delicious cakes, but he doesn't know much about teenagers. You and Stefan decide to organise a great café opening. You know you can make it an opening party to remember. Stefan's cousin has a budget of 500 euros. Go online or use other resources to find ideas for the opening party and information on each of your options.

C. In three weeks, your friend Leo's e-pal, Pablo, is visiting from Spain. He's travelling with his family, but he's only coming to Leo's home town for one day. Leo says he wants the day to be really special and really wants Pablo to have fun, but he's not sure about good places and interesting things to do and see. Pablo is quite sporty and likes music, but Leo doesn't know what he likes to eat or do in his free time. Leo's mom says he can have 100 euros for the day for the two of them. Pablo is staying until the evening. Go online or use other resources to find ideas for Leo and Pablo to do together and information on each of your options.

A. In a week, it's your mom's birthday. Your dad doesn't know what to do for the celebration. He's planning to take your her out for a burger and milkshakes, 'just like the old days'. Help your dad plan something different so that your mom's birthday is really special. His budget is 100 euros. Go online or use other resources to find ideas for a present and/or a small celebration and information on each of your options.

B. In a month, your friend Stefan's cousin is opening a cool new coffee shop. He wants to attract lots of local teenagers to come. Stefan says that his cousin makes great coffee and delicious cakes, but he doesn't know much about teenagers. You and Stefan decide to organise a great café opening. You know you can make it an opening party to remember. Stefan's cousin has a budget of 500 euros. Go online or use other resources to find ideas for the opening party and information on each of your options.

C. In three weeks, your friend Leo's e-pal, Pablo, is visiting from Spain. He's travelling with his family, but he's only coming to Leo's home town for one day. Leo says he wants the day to be really special and really wants Pablo to have fun, but he's not sure about good places and interesting things to do and see. Pablo is quite sporty and likes music, but Leo doesn't know what he likes to eat or do in his free time. Leo's mom says he can have 100 euros for the day for the two of them. Pablo is staying until the evening. Go online or use other resources to find ideas for Leo and Pablo to do together and information on each of your options.

Reflection Point

When you organise an event, it's important to think of or find different ideas and then information about each one. This information can help you make a better and more informed decision.

Cut out cards